Fall & Winter in Seoul

During these cooler seasons, Seoul has many fun activities for you to do. Attend annual festivals and events, explore the city to go adventuring, or find active activities and places to go - the city has so much to offer!

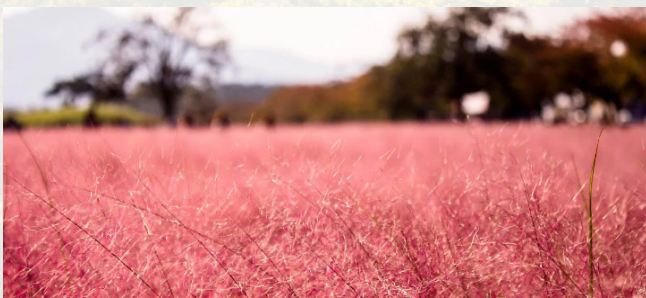

Street Food: Shows on Netflix and visits by world-renown chefs have made Korean street food a must-try experience for tourists. The most famous and picturesque is Gwangjang Market. The Myeong-dong tourist district is also popular for its wide variety of both Korean and international foods. You can also drop by any stall on a nearby street corner for a truly authentic (and delicious) experience.

Temple Stay: The cooler weather makes it a great time for mindfulness and reflection. There are many major Buddhist Temples in Seoul such as Jingwansa Temple where you can try a traditional tea ceremony, temple stay, or some even some vegan Buddhist cuisine. For a quick trip to a temple in the middle of the city, you can also try visiting Jogyesa Temple near Insadong or Bongeunsa Temple by Coex.

Skating Rinks: What better way to enjoy winter in the city than by visiting an ice skating rink? Head over to Seoul Plaza in City Hall for the famous outdoor rink or go to Lotte World to skate indoors! As a bonus, both locations are usually full of holiday festivities, lights, and decorations, making it a great outing for getting into the holiday spirit!

Silvergrass Festival: Up for a little walking adventure? Head over to Haneul Park for the annual Seoul Silver Grass Festival that takes place during the autumn season. Every fall, this festival attracts tons of locals and tourists alike, as the whole hill bursts in a beautiful collage of autumn colors and beautiful silvergrass. Check online for the most updated information and dates.

Hiking: If you enjoy going on either short or long walks, head over to Bukhansan National Park or Seoul Fortress Wall. While walking, people can see many forested areas, temples, and granite peaks at the park. While walking and seeing many sites, you can enjoy the beautiful view of Seoul north of the Han River. The Seoul City Wall Trail was built from stone, wood, and other materials to defend and show the boundaries of the city. Time your visit for October to catch the best of the gorgeous fall foliage.

Seoul Bucket List

Make the most out of your stay in Korea and at the Dragon by getting out and exploring all that the city has to offer! The Dragon is located right in the middle of Seoul, so guests have easy access to Seoul's top attractions. Big city sights, traditional culture, rich historical sites, and some fantastic city views await you, and are all reachable on foot, by bus, or subway!

N Seoul Tower: Accessible by a short hike or cable car, N Seoul Tower is the city's most famous attraction. The tower is the second highest point in Seoul and shows the beautiful scenery of the city. There are many fun facilities once you're up there, including an observatory, restaurants, and a beautiful park for hiking.

Gyeongbokgung Palace: Head on over to Gyeongbokgung Palace to experience one of the main royal palaces from Korea's Joseon dynasty. Make the trip even more memorable by renting traditional Korean clothes (hanbok) to wear while walking around the palace and nearby neighborhoods. These outfits and the palace scenery will make for the perfect, once-in-a-lifetime profile picture.

War Memorial of Korea Museum: Just minutes away from the hotel is this #1 top ranked attraction in Seoul. Be sure to take a moment to learn about the Korea's military history, which includes a lot of shared history with the U.S. (such as the Korean War). Along with vast indoor exhibitions, outdoors there are tanks, planes and more on display, as well as a somber memorial to those who lost their lives in previous wars.

Dongdaemun Design Plaza (DDP): This architectural marvel was designed by Zaha Hadid, and it is located in one of Seoul's top shopping districts. Head over to check out exhibitions, fashion shows, and other events. The building is divided into several sections for visitors to explore, shop, and dine.

Lotte World: Do you enjoy the thrill of amusement parks? Head over to Lotte World for an indoor and outdoor experience full of amusement rides, performances, and fun experiences for friends and families. You can spend the day going on thrilling rides and enjoy Korean cuisine and snacks.

Korean Food to Try in the Fall & Winter

The best part of visiting Korea is getting to taste and appreciate the Korean cuisine in restaurants and on the streets. And in the fall and winter, there are lots of foods to try in Korea that are piping hot, delicious, and filling. Go out and grab some of these savory and sweet snacks at restaurants and street food vendors throughout Seoul.

Korean Barbeque: Calling all meat lovers! If you enjoy savory foods, there's no better time than the cooler months to try grilling Korean barbecue like pork belly, beef ribs, and spicy marinated chicken.

Hotteok: Have you tried Korean pancakes before? Head over to a food vendor on the street and try this perfect hot pocket of sweet sugar and seeds.

Tteok-bokki: Those wanting something spicy and savory, order some spicy rice cakes and experience a kick of spice with fish cakes.

Bungeo-ppang: This fish-shaped pastry is often stuffed with sweet red bean paste. Some food vendors even offer other fillings like chocolate or cream.

Shopping

Before or after getting a meal at the Dragon or in the city, head over to many places to go shopping for clothes, products, and souvenirs. From extravagant malls, shopping streets, and traditional markets, you can get the items you need during your stay.
